

Students Rebuild Needs YOU:

Join our Youth Advisory Council!

WHAT?

The Students Rebuild Youth Advisory Council is an opportunity for 12 Seattle-area high school students. The Council will bring student input and influence to a global youth-focused program, while learning how Students Rebuild operates in the education and philanthropic spheres.

WHO?

Passionate and motivated young leaders who will be rising sophomores and juniors in HS. Engaged, thoughtful, and active students who are excited to bring their best to the program.

WHEN?

Applications are due May 15th, 2017. The council launches in July 2017 and selected students will serve a one year term – you'll be able to see a whole Students Rebuild Challenge the whole way through.

WHERE?

Council Meetings will take place quarterly in downtown Seattle. There will also be a fun 2-day kick-off orientation in July.

WHY?

We want to add more student voice and input to our program to inform the resources we provide to young people. We also see this as a great learning opportunity for students who participate - here are three great skills you will be able to strengthen and practice through serving on our council:

Leadership:

Use your voice and skills to influence an international program

Global Awareness:

Explore and organize action on pertinent issues impacting youth across the globe

Teamwork:

Connect with peers and program staff with similar passions and interests
